The Oceanic Steamers.

A San Francisco paper says: John D. Spreckels has returned from San Diego. He stated that the project to have the Oceanic steamers call for express and mail matter and passengers at San Diego to and from the omies, is as far from realization as ever. Nothing is being done towards the further ance of the Canadian Pacific Railway Com-'s scheme to run a line of steamers fro Post Moody to Anckland and Sydney. It Smith it Mailor's spreads come up right along to yesterday's standard, they will be sure of a fair share of well-deserved patromage.

Accident to Engineer Snow-

A rather serious accident happened Mr. F. G. Snow, chief eagineer of the steamer Wat eals, when at Kapaa, the other day. Mr. Soow had just come down the ladder from the burricane deck to the main deck, and stepping on the deck, as he supposed, he tumbled into the after-hold instead. A hatchway stood open close by the foot of the ladder, but as Mr. Snow was descending backward he did not observe that the hatch was open, hence the accident. Beyond some evere bruises, which have temporarily disabled him, he has not sustained any permanent injury. Mr. Snow was brought on board the steamer to Honolulu, and on arrival here was at once taken to the Queen's Hospital.

A Sailor Hit-

One of the British man-of-war sailors at the shooting match Aug. 26th, at the Kingstreet range came near having a shot go through his head. He had been stationed at the butts as marker, and after marking a shot, stepped back; but looking towards the shooting party, and seeing one of them, as he thought, advance, as if coming to-ward the butts, stepped forward, apparently under the impression that the shooting was over. He went just an inch too far for safety, but fortunately an inch short of losing the number of his mess, as a flying bullet struck him on the external ear, glanced along the bone behind the ear and came out at the back of the neck. He was prestrated by the shot, but is not sup-posed to be seriously wounded. Dr. Tucker was called and attended the wounded man
